

AGENT FOR LOS ANGELES REAL ESTATE FIRM EXPIRES SUDDENLY LAST NIGHT AT POLICE OFFICE

Darwin Moore, representing a Los Angeles real estate firm, died at the police station last night, shortly after 1 o'clock, having been removed from the Palace bar where his queer actions led the bartender to believe he was ill.

Deputy Chief of Police Will Walker received a call to the Palace bar shortly before 8 o'clock and on re-appearing found Moore stretched out on the floor in the rear of that place. Medical assistance was summoned and on examination it was found that the heart action and respiration of Moore were normal. He was removed to the police station and Dr. McLeod called. McLeod made an examination and made the announcement as had been made originally, that the heart action and respiration were normal. A hypodermic injection was given and Walker was told that Moore could be removed to the county hospital as soon as he regained consciousness.

Walker conversed with several friends in the police station for about ten minutes, and then walked into the back room where Moore had been placed. He discovered that the man was dead, having died without a struggle. Coroner Atkinson was notified and the remains were removed to the undertaking parlors of Wonacott and Hall.

It was discovered that Moore had visited several places in town yesterday, asking for drugs and also for absinthe. He declared that he was in great need of stimulants. He arrived from the south yesterday morning. Several days ago he departed from Los Angeles and stopped off at Bonnie Claire. After a day in that camp he proceeded to Goldfield.

From letters found on the person of Moore it was discovered that he has a wife and several children, who are now in Bellingham, Wash. The relatives have been notified of the death and no disposition will be made with the body until an answer has been received. The inquest will be held this afternoon, with Judge Chambers acting as coroner in the stead of Judge Atkinson, who departed this morning for Salt Lake.

IS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER THE FORMING OF ORGANIZATION

W. B. SOLLENDER DECLARES EVERY MAN AND WOMAN ELIGIBLE TO JOIN

An enthusiastic advocate over the forming of an association for the betterment of conditions in Tonopah and also throughout Nye county, is W. B. Solender. In a communication received today by the Bonanza Solender advocates the forming of such an association to shake off the lethargy and apathy with which this camp is afflicted and suggests the organization be known as the "Good Work Club." Solender's letter follows:

Following your article in Friday's Bonanza about the organization of a live chamber of commerce, a booster club or other organization that will form to promote the interests of Tonopah especially and Nevada generally, I wish to add a few thoughts.

It is not necessary to dwell on the mining possibilities of our camp, the foundation is too well laid to admit of listening to the croaker's lament. We have long since passed the point of speculating on what may be reasonably expected in the Tonopah zone. Money, coupled with intelligent mining, will bring the "bacon" in any portion of the nearby area over which Mounts Butler, Oddie and Brougher stand as sentinels to watch and mark our progress.

Of one thing the business men and taxpayers of Tonopah stand in vital need and that is some organization (the name not so important as the purposes and objects to be accomplished), to be founded and maintained by her citizens and every man or woman eligible to membership who will spread a good word for their neighbor and boast for Tonopah; and as a suggestion we might call the organization "The Good Work Club."

Our community is hidebound with lethargy and apathy in so far as our town's interests are concerned. Upon every hand we hear the expressions of embittered feelings, one against the other, and the camp is like the house divided against itself; it will fall.

Tonopah as a community is greater than any citizen within her gates and she will become as much greater in the future as her people will co-operate to make her great.

Now that the smoke of political battle has passed into the yesterdays let every citizen, men and women, sound the slogan for a bigger Tonopah and together we will add to the brilliancy of Tonopah, Nevada's brightest star, a gem nestled in the sacred hills of the desert. Yours with the handle out of the ax

W. B. SOLLENDER

If it's of exceptional value at the price, it's sure to be advertised in the Bonanza, else the merchant would be hopelessly unprogressive.

OFFICIALS OF TONOPAH MINING COMPLETE VISIT

PRESIDENT AND ADVISING ENGINEER MAKE INSPECTION OF PROPERTY

J. S. Austin, president of the Tonopah Mining company and J. E. Spurr, advising engineer and second vice president of the same company, after spending several days in Tonopah looking after their interests, departed this morning for Philadelphia. M. B. Cutter, president of the Tonopah & Goldfield railroad, who also spent a day or two here inspecting the railroad, left yesterday for his eastern home.

All three gentlemen remarked as to the great improvement to be noticed in this camp since their last visits and even greater things were predicted for the future of Tonopah.

ALLEGED FORGER SECURES RELEASE WITH $750 BAIL

JAMES BRADY TO BE TRIED FRIDAY ON CHARGE OF SENDING FALSE MESSAGE

James Brady, arrested Friday night on a charge of sending false telegrams with the intent to injure and misrepresent the property of the North Star company, was released Saturday, following his arraignment, on $750 bail. His preliminary examination will be held Friday.

In the story that appeared in Saturday's Bonanza, it was erroneously stated that S. H. Brady had declared his name was forged to the telegram sent out by James Brady. As a matter of fact, Brady merely put the case up to District Attorney Sanders, who issued the complaint. The telegram sent out contained the name of "Brady" as the signature, no initials being attached.

It is understood that the defense will attempt to prove that the items in the telegram were taken from local papers and were not false, notwithstanding the statements of Superintendent Brady, who emphatically denies that a $1700 assay was ever taken from the North Star mine.

"It is not consistent with good mining to assay the high grade pieces of ore," declared Brady. "An average of a ledge or vein is always taken, and this is always the case in all the properties with which I am connected."

RECOVERS FROM ILLNESS

Mrs. James Mayberry is recovering from an illness that kept her confined to her home for the past week. She is now able to be about and a complete recovery is looked for in a few days.

COMMISSIONERS ARE UNABLE TO CANVASS VOTES

PRECINCTS OF BLUE EAGLE AND SHARP ARE YET TO BE HEARD FROM

Owing to the non-arrival of the election returns from two Nye county precincts, the official canvass by the board of county commissioners was not made this morning. The tardy precincts yet to be heard from are Sharp and Blue Eagle. The returns from Currant Creek and Duckwater arrived yesterday, but no outside tally sheet accompanied the boxes and the result will not be known until the canvass is made.

According to the election laws, the commissioners must wait ten days before making the canvass, provided all the precincts are not reported. Should all the precincts be in, the canvass can be made at the pleasure of the board. It is expected that the Sharp and Blue Eagle returns will be in today or tomorrow and as soon as they arrive the canvass will be made.

The board met today and transacted only routine matters. The final adjournment will not be taken until the canvass has been made.

M'MANIGAL CONTINUES STORY OF HIS DYNAMITE ADVENTURES

(By Associated Press) INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Going deeper into his adventures as a paid dynamiter, Orlie McManigal told at today's dynamite conspiracy trial, of the wrecked bridges, viaducts and buildings he left behind after causing explosion in various cities.

The indication that the government intends to investigate fully the Pacific coast explosions was manifested by the calling of more witnesses from California.

McManigal testified after he blew up a power house car shop in Chicago, Hockin said he had made a mistake and should have destroyed a railroad bridge. He was refused pay for the job. A few days later he said Hockin came to him with J. B. McNamara, the latter just from Salt Lake City, where he blew up the Utah hotel. Later Hockin ordered him to blow up a viaduct at Cleveland, which he did.

McManigal implicated Charles Wachmeister, one of the defendants, and Hiram Clinea and Robert Ross, union officials, as connected with the proposed explosion at Detroit.
